February Lunch and Learn

Take advantage of the change of pace during break week to grab your lunch and join Maria Steele from Research Services and Deidre Smith from Financial Services to learn more about managing a Research Budget on Wed. Feb. 23 at 1:00 pm. Designed to address questions for new(er) faculty, others are welcome to join.

Lessons Learned from the Pandemic (so far!)

Three of UPEI's 3M National Teaching will be leading a panel and discussion on Lessons Learned from the Pandemic (so far!). Join Étienne Côté, Sue Dawson and Ann Braithwaite on February 10th, 2022 at 4:00 pm for what promises to be a lively conversation! Click here to register for the Zoom link.

This is a follow-up to the talk by George Veletsianos, Finding a future beyond "a return to normal" on campus. If you missed this talk, a recording is available by reaching out to TLC@upei.ca

For Graduate Students Preparing their First Teaching Dossier

We are excited to invite graduate students to our session tailored to answer frequently asked questions about teaching dossiers for an academic job search, as part of the Academic Instructional Skills Program. Encourage your graduate students to 1) self-enroll in the AISP courses on Developing a Teaching Philosophy and Developing a Teaching Dossier AND 2) register now for our session focused preparing a teaching dossier as part of an academic job search slated for Friday Feb. 11 at 1:00 pm. Click here for the ZOOM link .

The third session tailored to the particular needs of a teaching award dossier will be organized soon. Stay tuned!

Sadly, plans for a Time to Write Retreat during break week in February are on hold due to the COVID situation. We hope to hold one as soon as circumstances allow.

Thinking of a multimedia project but need some support? Watch for the Call for Proposals for the Multimedia Grant Program coming out in the next few days!

Winter Reading Group

Colleagues keen to meet others interested in discussing teaching and learning can still join our Winter Reading group on Wednesdays at 10:00 starting Feb 9, 2022. Our first reading will be chapter one from Becoming a Critically Reflective Teacher by Stephen Brookfield (available as an e-book through the Robertson Library). Questions??? Email TLC@upei.ca

The Teaching and Learning Centre offers one-to-one consultations for all faculty and instructional staff. Observations for in-person and online classes can also be arranged.

Contact Charlene VanLeeuwen, cvanleeuwen@upei.ca for information.
